Living Arts of Tulsa Needs You for Summer Camp Instructor

Living Arts considers education a vital component of aesthetic experience: shared vocabulary around contemporary art and knowledge production are key qualities of art engagement. Living Arts works with the youth community through free after-school programs, a low-cost summer camp, and in-school residencies in order to explore and produce non-traditional, new genre artistic practices, such as video, performance, and installation. Living Arts employs regional, national, and international teaching artists from a variety of backgrounds.

New Arts Camp will be functioning in 5 one-week sessions! We are looking for artists to propose a session of camp that will take place in the afternoon from Tuesday to Friday, from 12:30 to 4:30. We want to hear what you think is missing and apply that to our students!

Last year, Living Arts of Tulsa hosted five sessions of camp featuring a variety of visual and performance art opportunities.

Teaching artists will receive $500 for facilitating camp in their session. They will also be given a supplies budget of $200 for that session. A full supplies list must be submitted three weeks before their session of camp is set to begin.

Deadline: Friday, February 3rd at 11:59 p.m. Artists will be notified of their selection no later than Wednesday, March 8th.

For questions or specific program dates, please email Carolyn Argo at education@livingarts.org.
